

Bio

Davey Jones is a project manager working for a major software company and loves to play Real-time Strategy (RTS) games in his spare time. He likes to play these games in a co-op mode (all parties on the same side) with his friends against the computer AI. He is also interested in playing a Campaign mode where he can experience the story of a faction. He prefers playing on PC over mobile games and gaming consoles.

His major frustration is the fact that most of the recent RTS games are either single player based or a PvP (Player vs Player) mode and do not support co-op multiplayer modes. He does not like games which needs him to do a lot of research in order to play the game. He doesn't prefer games which force him to endure long tutorials to learn and master the gameplay.

His favourite go-to games are Rise of Nations, Empire Earth 2, and Age of Mythology. He always looks for games that are free-to-play or are available at discounted prices. However, the gameplay should be immersive and he should be able to gather resources without major disruptions.

Motivations

- Game price: 1
- Achievements: 5
- Replayability: 2
- Graphics: 3
- Social: 4

"Need immersive gameplay experience without intricate complexities and long tutorials."

Demography and Geography

- Age: 40
- Gender: Male
- Education: Engineering graduate
- Work: Project Manager
- Marital status: Divorcee
- Location: Sweden
- Favourite gaming platform: Steam

Goals

Short-term:

- Relive historical wars via campaigns in the RTS games.
- Bonding with friends by playing Skirmish games against the computer AI.
- Be able to finish games in a limited time frame (maximum 1 hour).
- Should not feel the grind if he chooses to replay a campaign or a game.

Life goals

- Early retirement to experience a stress-free life
- A huge corpus retirement fund of at least 1 Million kronor (currency of Sweden)
- Travel a lot
- Interact with local citizens in their native language

Frustrations

- Games which are too complex and need a lot of research to understand the concepts. Example: Hearts of Iron IV.
- MMORTS (Massive Multiplayer Online Real Time Strategy) games where there is no end game. Example: Forge of Empires.
- Games where the graphics are sub-par, campaign story is really bad, and no multiplayer option for Skirmishes. Example: Men of War II.

Ideal game features

- A small learning curve and the gameplay should be intuitive without having to watch long tutorials.
- Lots of maps and scenarios where multiplayer co-op games can be played without repetition.
- Be able to age advance without facing resource crunch all the time.

Influencers and brands

Marketing channels

- Channel 1: Gaming platforms like Steam or Epic games where all major games are available for sale.
- Channel 2: Streaming channels that host gaming content like Twitch and YouTube.
- Channel 3: Websites that write game reviews like IGN, gamepressure.com, Neoseeker, and TrueAchievements to name a few.

Psychographic details

- Personality: An ambivert who loves to deep-dive into topics of his interest, a logical thinker, a good friend, and a great problem-solver.
- Interests: History, Geopolitics, Technology, Current trends, Reading Sci-fi books, and Gaming.
- Lifestyle: A computer-savvy software professional who keeps up with the latest technological trends and keeps a keep interest in gaming.
- Attitude: Conservative and calm by nature. Can get animated when talking about topics of interest or engaged in heated discussions.